SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25. (From our Extra, September 20th, 1975.)

SUSPENSION OF THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA.

DEATH OF W. C. RALSTON. THE STATE GONE DEMOCRATIC.

Fears of War in Europe Subsided. The British bark Jalaicar, from San Francisco en route for the Guano Islands, arrived yesterday morning, bringing San Francisco dates to Sept. 2. The most important item of news by this arrival is the announcement that the Bank of California, the principal monied institution of the State, suspended payment on August 26. At the commencement of banking hours on that morning, symptoms of a run on the Bank were evident, which continued throughout the day. until 2.20 P. M. when the doors were closed. At the National Gold Bank and Trust Co., and at the Hibernia Bank, crowds pressed upon the clerks, hastily demanding payment. It was a financial panie, the like of which was never there seen before. The streets were crowded in the neigh-borhood of the bank of California. "The crowd in the corridors became so large that depositors stood five or six deep all along the line of the paying counters, each struggling to get his check to the teller in advance of his neighbor, and the crowd soon resolved itself into a pushing, squeezing, struggling mob." The excitement was increased when the doors were closed and the announcement made by Mr. Ralston that payment was stopped. After bank hours, says one paper, "the principal indignation expressed for the supposed instigators of the trouble was against the publishers of the Bulletin and Call, who had, by constant attacks upon Mr. Ralston, President of the Bank, representing him as the Boss Tweed of San Francisco and a political schemer, finally succeeded in undermining the credit of the Bank." "So intense was the indignation against these journals, that at one time it was feared that the excited crowd would resolve itself into a mob and attack the offices; but better counsels prevailed, and the city was spared the disgrace of a riot," At 5 o'clock, Mr. Ralston met the representatives of the press and others, and stated that there was no question but that the Bank would be able to meet all its obligations; that over $1,400,000 in coin, besides other securities, had been paid out. On the 31st it was announced by the Directors that the assets of the Bank were nominally $20, 000,000, and that there was a surplus of six or seven millions over and above all its liabilities. It was stated that the stockholders of the Bank were among the richest men in California, representing property moderately estimated at $50.-000,000, and the public were assured that they would resuscitate the Bank. Later, it was announced that the resumption would take place in a few days, and this was received by the public with the highest satisfaction.

Meantime, on the 27th, the day following the suspension of the bank of which he was President. the city was startled by the announcement of the death by drowning in the bay of Wm. C. Ralston Under the circumstances, rumor at once attributed his death to suicide, but a searching inquiry by a coroner's inquest, a post mortem examina tion, and an analysis of the contents of the stomach of the deceased, all went to show that the death was accidental. His life was insured for some $300,000. The funeral, very largely attended, took place on the 30th, and the city was dressed in mourning garb in respect to the memory of one who had been her most conspicu-ous citizen, and who had done much to beautify the city and develop the resources of the coast. On the receipt of the news in this city of the suspension of the Bank of California, some inquiry was made as to the relations of our Bank with the Coast, and the following notice was posted on the Post Office bulletin board : "The undersigned beg to assure their customers that their interests have not suffered at all by the suspension of the bank of California. Messrs. Hickox & Spear, bankers, as well as Messrs. J. C. Merrill & Co., immediately upon receiving the intelligence of the suspension of the bank, offered to protect all drafts of ours, and proceeded to do so. All our unmatured remittances were turned over directly to Messrs. Hickox & Spear. All of our drafts in transit are fully covered by remittances, and there will be no delay in their payment by Messrs.

Hickox & Spear. "Bishor & Co.
"Honolulu, Sept 19, 1875."
There having been disparaging misrepresentations made by parties in San Francisco in regard to the action taken by the firm of Messrs. J. C. Merrill & Co., in refusing payment of their ac ceptances maturing at the bank of California after its suspension, done solely for the protection of Messrs. Bishop & Co., of this city, we are requested by the last named firm to state, that the generous and disinterested course pursued by Mr. J. C. Merrill in the matter, has their hearty approval, and is fully appreciated.

The steamship Vasco de Gama, Capt. Rice, is advertised by the P. M. Co. to leave San Francisco for the Colonies Oct 9, via Honolulu. The state elections throughout California took place on the 1st inst., and it appears that the Democratic candidate for Governor, Wm. Irwin, has been elected by a large majority. It is sup-posed that Clayton, Republican, has been elected Mayor of San Francisco. European telegrams to Sept. 1, represent the Herzgovinian insurrection at an end. All the insurgents who had not fled to Austria had submitted to the Porte.

An Elephant Picks a Young Woman's Pocket.

A correspondent of the Kansas City Times says: On Tuesday the entire population, except a blind women and Rouse, went over to see Queen's great show and have a nice time. A young lady from across the Jersey took her suitor and an opera glass. The young lady says she thought the performance real romantic until she stopped to see the elephant.

She wore one of those pockets behind, in which, besides her handkerchief, she had deposited an apple, a handful of peanuts, quarter of a pound of gum-drops, a little bottle of ammonia. and some other trifles. She and her swain, after admiring the complexion of the hugh beast, turned their backs upon him to watch the monkeys and the live kangaroo, and gaze into each others's eyes; to do this the better they leaned back against the rope which enclosed the stately monarch, who saw the apple protruding from the pocket of the unconscious fair one. He hesitated a moment, and was lost to all sense of honor or self-respect, for with shuffling movement he emuthe example of our common mother, plucked and ate the fruit, returned to the pocket and scooped out the gum drops and peanuts, with a sly wink at his nephew, who was looking on with anxiety at the proceeding. But in the last mouthful the majestic beast took in the amonia bottle by mistake the cork came out, and about an ounce of hartshorn ran down the throat of the greedy beast. This beverage is said to have a reviving and stimulating influence, and in this case it proved its power, for a more revived elephant was never seen on earth. With a wild yell he grabbed the protuberence behind the lady which had been the cause of his disaster; she was "pulled back" some before, but as the exasperated trunk yanked at the bustle and accessories, all former attemps at that style of wearing gear seemed pale and sickly; everything was "pulled back" until the young women looked like the statue of Niobe in blue calico. The young man with great presence of mind shouted "shoo," and the gentlemanly clerk of the elephant, with a long prod, persuaded the beast to
